

The John Cross Legacy Society
at the First Unitarian Universalist Society of Albany

Supporting the good works of Albany UU through planned giving

The John Cross Legacy Society was created by the Endowment Trust to encourage planned giving within our congregation. In appreciation, each June, all members of the John Cross Legacy Society are invited to a wine and cheese reception in honor of their participation.

Why Planned Giving?

Imagine the impact of our gifts 50, 100 or 150 years from now:

- ◆ standing up for social justice;
- ◆ living in a green community;
- ◆ growing a vibrant caring community for all; and
- ◆ instilling our UU values in future generations.

Planned giving allows you to promote UU values far into the future. Planned gifts are often spelled out in a will or accompanying letter of instruction. Life insurance can also be used for planned giving. It is important for you to determine the type of gift that is best for your financial situation.

If you have already included our congregation in your estate plan, please let us know so that you can be properly recognized and thanked for your generosity and vision.

For more information on planned giving, or to be recognized as a member of the John Cross Legacy Society, please complete the form on the reverse side and return it to us.
